Cauldron Yearbook
Northeastern University
Boston, Massachusetts

We are all part of something;
something big, something small, something known or not.

We are part of a club, a team, a close knit group of friends. We are part of a school, a city, a state. We are part of the United States (whether we like it or not), some for our entire lives and others just the past five years.

Soon we'll be part of the working world, maybe a small part in a large corporation or an indispensable part in a small business.

Each of us is a unique piece that creates this wonderful, and sometimes crazy, world we live in.

But the pieces that are sometimes overlooked are our own individual stories.

Our own histories, passions, and dreams.

What means the most to us.

What drives us.

What makes us who we are today...

...and who we'll become tomorrow.

Within these pages are just a few of the pieces. There are small pieces and large pieces. There are pieces we'll always remember and maybe even some pieces we would like to forget. No matter what, they are a part of us.

Here are the pieces of us.

What is a Cauldron?

\CALL - DRIN\ -n. a pot, often cast iron with three or four legs, a handle and a lid, used in various ways for magical work and rituals. In essence a cooking pot, a tool for transformation

Why is the yearbook called the Cauldron?

Unofficially: In 1917, the year of the first yearbook publication, Northeastern College was almost exclusively an engineering school. At this point in history engineers used a cauldron to mix metals.

[1917]

The Cauldron

The 2005 Cauldron
Yearbook
aims to set down on these pages the people, places, and events of a period of history; to record the happenings that have created memories and influenced destinies.

The past is our definition. We may strive, with good reason to escape it, or to escape what is bad in it, but we will escape it only by adding something better to it.

Behind the bar sits a tempting variety of beers. Many Boston bars carry a variety of import beers for those who prefer the dark ales to the light brews.

Bell in Hand bar and restaurant, 45 Union Street. Dating back to revolutionary times, the Bell in Hand is full of history, good food, and live music.

A Boston bar is still up. But if it goes down, the bar will come to life.

Elbert Hubbard

Our House East bar and restaurant, 52 Gainsborough Street. Cheap eats, a casual atmosphere, and TVs for viewing various sports keep Our House packed with college students.

Coogan's bar and restaurant, 171 Milke Street. This Irish pub, situated in the heart of the financial district, serves delicious food during the day and plays top 40 dance hits at night.

A black and white photograph of a pub named 'The Black Rose'. The building is constructed from stone. Above the main entrance, there is a large sign that reads 'STEAKS AND SEAFOOD' in a serif font, with 'The Black Rose' written below it in a larger, stylized font, accompanied by a small rose logo. To the left of the entrance, there is a smaller sign that reads 'FINE BEER' and 'Seafood'. To the right of the entrance, there is another entrance with a sign that reads 'SPIRITS AND' and 'ROBIN'. The pub has a classic, traditional appearance.

A bartender fills another mug of beer. Often times, bartenders can be accredited for keeping customer patronage up. A good bartender will have repeat customers.

Armani Cafe, 214 Newbury Street. This trendy restaurant is a good place to relax for hours at a time, with good Italian food and a patio cafe on warm days.

"Part of the secret of success in life is to eat what you like and let the food fight it out inside."

Mark

It's not every restaurant that's got a reputation for being a hot spot for the local press. But the Legal Sea Foods restaurant at the Prudential Center, 800 Boylston Street, is one of the few that has. The restaurant is famous for its clam chowder, and it's also the only one in the city that has a 'clams on the half shell' sign.

Pausing from snapping and toe-tapping, music professor Jim Anderson sings a song he composed for Jonathan Blake, whose friends gathered at afterHours for a farewell tribute show.

ALL SCENE

Playing his upright bass an unconventional way gave this wild band member a ride at the band's show at afterHours.

This lead singer wasn't afraid to belt it in front of the crowd of students that came to enjoy the music at afterHours.

Spunking up the show, the drummer of this band decided to rock out in a cow suit.

Rushing between keyboards and percussion, Bob Greel taps the bongos in the band Goosepimp Betty during a show at the All Asia Cafe.

Singing harmonies and providing vocals, Justin Perry is Jude Nemo's backup band. He can be seen at an afterHours show. Perry shifts between solo and full-band gigs at venues all over Massachusetts.

Dear Class of 2005:

As graduates taking part in Northeastern's 103rd commencement exercises, you will always hold a special place in your university's remarkable history. Thanks in large measure to all of your accomplishments and successes, Northeastern has continued to rise to heightened levels of competitiveness, progress that should serve you well in the years to come. With pride and pleasure, on behalf of the faculty and trustees, I congratulate you on reaching this milestone in your life and wish you every success on the journey that lies ahead.

As you leave Northeastern, I hope you see your time here as the beginning of your learning, not the end. There will always be more to know, deeper levels of understanding and higher levels of performance to attain. Keep growing and searching for knowledge, because to stop learning is, in a real sense, to stop living.

I hope you will seek wisdom and compassion even as you pursue knowledge and skill. As you discover, make use of your discoveries. As you learn, teach. As you succeed, share. What you have acquired during your years here can make your community- and all the world- a better place.

I hope, too, that you will keep a place in your heart for Northeastern. You have earned a permanent place among us. We want to be a continuing part of your life and your growth. You are joining generations of graduates, linked to one another throughout the past century. With you now in the vanguard, this University, this family of Northeastern, will flourish anew in the years to come.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, reading "R M Freeland". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style with a large initial "R" and "M".

Richard M. Freeland
President

You know you're from Northeastern when...

You are no longer a freshman, but aren't really sure what year you are

You claim to have helped Sean Fanning invent Napster

You know the phrase "come to our house" involves going to a bar

You've spent hours of your life trying to navigate a way out of the monstrosity known as Holmes/Nightingale/Meserve/Lake Hall

You smile when you see a girl with a red key chain

You recognize the entire staff of Huntington Liquors

You equate Activities Period with naptime

You've said "Cappy's or BHOP?" after a hockey game

You got drunk off of a Scorpion Bowl at Tiger Lily's before you turned 21

You've heard that BU/BC/Harvard girls are a waste of money

You mourned when Chicken Lou died

You don't know how to get to Parson's Field

The very mention of the word "trimester" makes you shudder

You've rubbed the Husky's nose for good luck before a final... and you know our real mascot should be a Husky on a cell phone

You're a senior, and you still don't know how to navigate the tunnel system

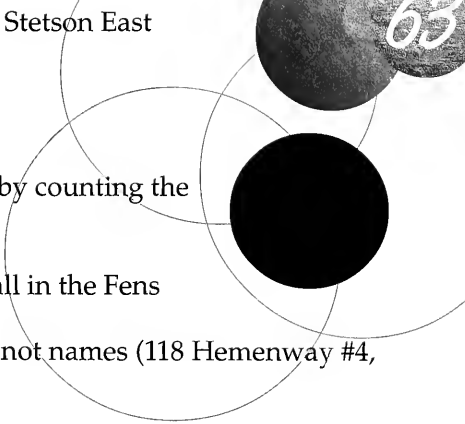

You consider anything past the Museum of Fine Arts to be too far outbound

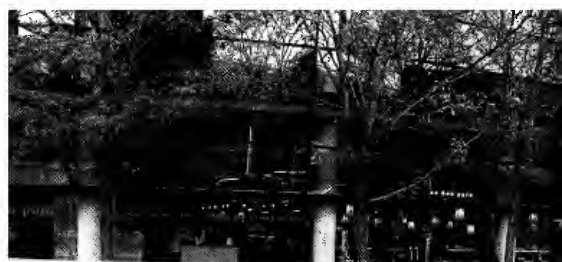

It's 2:01 am, and you're already walking towards Little Stevie's

You refuse to go to Boston College unless you have someone to drive you

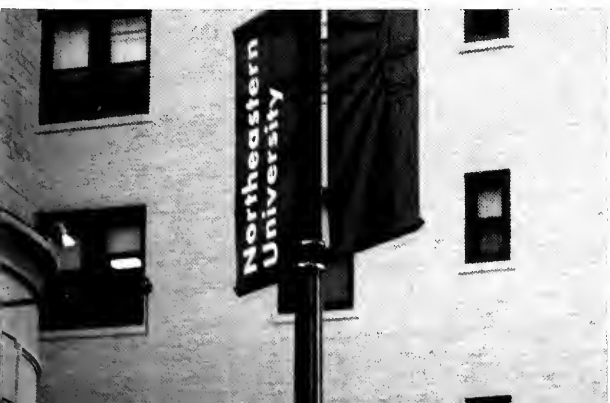

You know there's a frat house behind the Texaco Station...and you've been once... and only once

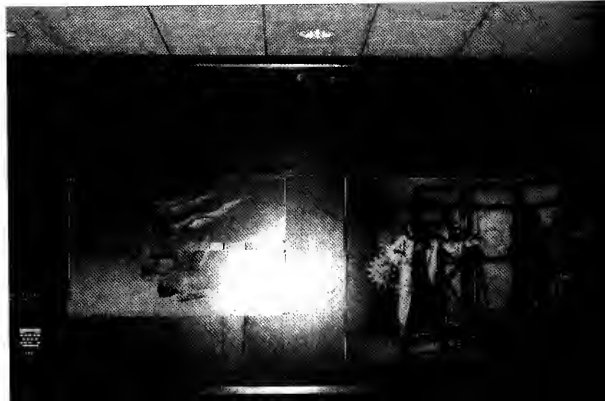

At some point you've created your own parking space in the North Lot

- You know someone who's put laundry detergent in the Stetson East fountain
- You know half a dozen shortcuts to Landsdowne St.
- You can tell when the next E line train is going to arrive by counting the people standing on the platform
- You've cut class at least once on a nice day to play softball in the Fens
- You know the good party apartments only by numbers, not names (118 Hemenway #4, 75 St. Stephen's)
- You take pride in the fact that the NU Dog House road fan club makes just as much noise as the BU and BC home hockey crowds
- You can tell a girl's sorority by what type of Tiffany's bracelet she wears
- You don't interrupt when people confuse your school with Northwestern
- You know there is a difference between Beirut and Beer Pong, and you consider yourself an expert at both
- You'll skip your 9:15 am Intro to Sociology, but not your scuba diving or yoga class
- You live in Roxbury, but pay $38,000 a year to attend a private school
- You liked the original Cappy's 1 better than the fancy new building they put up
- You know someone who's jumped in the reflecting pool by the Christian Science Center
- You've waved to sideways-bicycle guy
- You're comfortable with the terms "middler", "co-op" and "no-op"
- You've tried to get into the NASA anti-gravitational room in the Egan Research Center
- You consider "working out" reading a Vogue magazine on the Stairmaster without breaking a sweat
- The idea of Kegs-n-Eggs sounds perfectly reasonable, especially on Marathon Monday
- After three co-ops, you've made over $20,000, but managed to spend almost all of it living in Boston
- You think the phrase "Higher Tuition. Richer Freeland" is hilarious

WORLD IN REVIEW

What was happening in the world around NU...

This year, like any other, was one to remember. We experienced the ups and downs of our American Democracy, as well as the beauty of our world at peace as the Olympics took the stage. The world around us has kept us busy...

FLORIDA DECIDES

After Florida proclaimed Texas Governor George W. Bush the victor over Vice President Al Gore in the presidential race, voters questioned the Electoral College and the ballot process.

MOTHER MARION

Marion Jones was the first woman to win five track medals in one Olympics at the 2000 Summer Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia.

OH KOREA

South Korea's Kim Dae Jung met with North Korea's Kim Jong Il in North Korea's capital and ceased their constant state of war that had endured for nearly half a century.

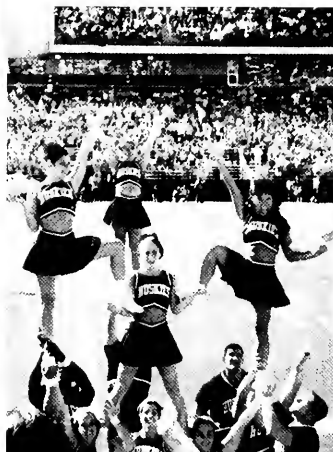

SHREK FOR PRESIDENT

Movie-goers met their new best friend when Shrek reached theaters in early 2001. The friendly ogre and his friends touched America's hearts -- and wallets -- at the box office.

RU-486

Better known as Mifeprax, the first emergency contraceptive entered the U.S. after the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved the drug in September of 2000.

NORTHEAST UNIVERSITY

The Northeastern Cheerleaders took 1st place at the National Cheerleading Association Division 1 competition in October of 2001.

Sadly, Northeastern University had to say goodbye to the friendly and familiar "Chicken Lou" Feretti on September 12, 2000. He left behind fond memories of his booming voice, genuine care, and cheap eats. Ever since Chicken Lou followed his own son to campus in 1977 and set up his canteen truck which later turned into the famous chicken shack, Chicken Lou had been a father to all students on campus.

Sean Fanning was an average student at Northeastern University until he left in 1998 to pursue a piece of software he liked to call "Napster." This software that quickly became a household name faced law suits from artists such as Dr. Dre, Metallica and the Recording Industry Association of America due to infringing upon music copyrights.

Just days before leaving the presidential office for good, President Clinton joined over 7,000 students in Matthews Arena on his farewell tour. The crowd was gracious and enthusiastic, even after waiting for hours in long, cold lines and a two hour delay. One issue addressed in Clinton's twenty-five minute speech was the importance of increasing financial aid for college students.

The Student Government Association faced major issues when two of the six vice presidents resigned from their positions. The controversy started over irregular ballots in electing previous student government senators. In more SGA controversy, the former executive vice president resigned after she was suspected of being in a 21 and over section on the Winter Weekend Cruise.

Students at Northeastern were furious when President Freeland proposed to raze the current John D. O'Bryant African-American Institute and replace the building with another non-free-standing building in the same location. Freeland proposed a compromise with the students despite extensive student-led protests.

WORLD IN REVIEW

What was happening in the world around NU.

Below are just a few of the many major events that happened in the world in 2001 & 2002. From dramatizing events such as floods and aircraft crashes, to Golden Globe Awards, here is a glance of 2001-2002 events around the globe.

FLOOD CAUSES DAMAGE

In central Europe in August 2002, a flood caused more than 989 million dollars worth of claims, ruined many historical buildings, cost several thousand lives, and made tens of thousands of people homeless.

AIRCRAFT CRASH TAKES LIVES

In Italy in October 2001, as a Scandinavian jetliner was taking off at Milan Linate Airport, heavy fog hid a business jet and caused the two aircrafts to crash, killing 118 people.

MID-AIR COLLISION

In 2002 over southern Germany a mid-air collision between a DHL cargo jet and a Russian airliner took the lives of 71 people. Flight recorders show that the Russian pilot had just 44 seconds to take action.

'A BEAUTIFUL MIND'

In Beverly Hills, California at the 2002 Golden Globe Awards, the film "A Beautiful Mind" stole the show, winning best drama, best actor, best supporting actress, and best screenplay.

TERRORISM STRIKES

On September 11, 2001 four aircrafts were hijacked: two were flown into the World Trade Center, one into the Pentagon and another into a Pennsylvania field. The attacks combined took the lives of over 3,000 people.

The harrowing site of the World Trade Center's Twin Towers after two hijacked airliners slammed into the buildings.

September 11, 2001 changed many lives forever. Six people, all of whom have connections with Northeastern, were lost during the terrorist attack when two planes hijacked from Logan Airport were flown into the Twin Towers in New York City. Those lost were Candace Williams, Sonia Puopolo, Natalie Janis Lasden, Anna Allison, Peter Gay, and Herb Homer.

In October of 2001, as part of Homecoming, Jimmy Fallon sold out Blackman Theatre with his stand-up comedy act. Fallon's act was college-based humor: fake ID's, living in a dorm, and mini-refrigerators.

In October 2001, then-freshman Quarterback Shawn Brady had a breakout performance as he and senior tailback LJ McKenna led Northeastern to a 40-13

The Northeastern Cheerleaders made quite a name for themselves when the co-ed squad brought home the Division 1 title from the National Cheerleading Competition in Daytona Beach, FL. They beat six divisions and 183 teams as the Grand National Champions. No other team in the Northeast has accomplished this.

During February 3, 2002, the Patriots' win over the Rams to clench the Superbowl caused many Northeastern students to lose control. On Hemenway Street approximately 1,000 people gathered to riot, where cars were flipped, trash barrels were lit on fire and thrown, and people were running across the tops of cars. Only four individuals were arrested and no major injuries were reported.

In 2002, at Fenway Park, the Northeastern baseball team's Beanpot victory over Harvard snapped a five-game losing streak. Led by freshman Miguel Paquette, the team persevered after losing eight of their last ten games.

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY 2001-2002

The September 11 terrorist attacks stilled many lives, including cherished members of the Northeastern family.

White candles filled Krentzman Quadrangle Thursday as the Student Government Association (SGA) hosted a vigil to honor the September 11 terrorist attacks. SGA President Michael Romano welcomed the students and thanked them for their presence on such an important occasion. Interim Vice President for Student Affairs Ed Klotzbier spoke of his own personal connection to September 11, having grown up outside New York City.

UP ALL NIGHT

Students up late studying at Snell Library may not have to head home by midnight for much longer if the Student Government Association has its way. SGA collected over 400 student surveys in the past two weeks that show students want a quiet study space on campus where they can study after midnight, said Vice President for Academic Affairs Ashley Adams.

WORLD IN REVIEW

What was happening in the world around NU.

Below are just a few of the many major events that happened across the world in 2002 & 2003. From dramatizing events such as heroic rescues and unruly fires, to The Grammys, here is a glance of 2002-2003 events around the globe.

AXIS OF EVIL

President Bush's first State of the Union address illustrates his desire to expand the struggle against terrorism. He labels Iran, Iraq, and North Korea "an axis of evil."

PENNSYLVANIA MINERS RESCUED

On July 28th, nine Pennsylvania miners were rescued from a flooded coal mine after spending 77 hours 240 feet below the earth's surface.

O BROTHER

The soundtrack for O Brother Where Art Thou dominates the grammys, taking home the illustrious album of the year award and best country vocal.

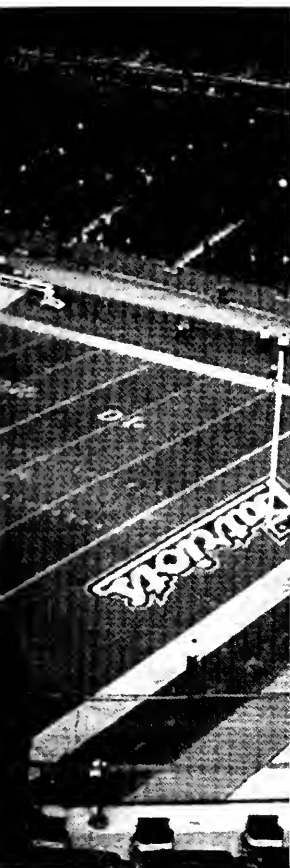

WILD FIRES

The second worst wildfire season for the western U.S. in over 50 years. The fires were caused by heat, drought, and lightning. Over 7 million acres of forest burned.

EMINEM TOPS THE CHARTS

The rapper's Eminem Show, along with his soundtrack for his movie debut, 8 Mile, combined for a whopping 11.1 million dollars in sales. Eminem Show sold 7.6 million copies while 8 Mile sold 3.5 million.

The Curry Student Center became the new home for popular fast-food chain, Wendy's, on September 20th. The new eatery was a great success with a 17% increase in traffic than previous occupant Burger King.

In October of 2002, the Service Employees International Union 254, which represents janitors of Boston, went on strike. The "Justice for Janitors" rally spilled onto Krentzman Quad, causing an abrupt end to the volunteer fair held each semester by faculty and students. WORLD IN REVIEW

What was happening in the world around NU.

Here are just a few of the year's events that affected not only Northeastern but the world at large. Natural disasters, law suits, the continuing war in Iraq, and more left people of all races, genders, and political persuasions lingering between division and unity...

NO POWER TO THE PEOPLE

Hurricane Isabel swept across the mid-Atlantic states in September 2003, causing at least 23 deaths and leaving millions without power.

RECORD BREAKER

The Recording Industry Association of America cracked down and filed civil law suits against 261 illegal internet music swappers, including a suit filed against 12-year-old Brianna LaHara.

STRONG-ARM TACTICS

Abandoning his love for movies and muscles, beefy celebrity Arnold Schwarzenegger became governor of California by an overwhelming majority vote in October 2003.

HOLE-Y TERROR

On December 13th, 2003, Iraqi dictator Saddam Hussein was found hiding in an eight-foot hole near Tikrit. He surrendered easily but would not cooperate with interrogators.

GREEK WEEKS

The summer 2004 Olympic Games were held in Athens, Greece, and went off without a hitch, but also without much enthusiasm from viewers.

"The season is a long way from over," Hiner said. "We've got a lot of football yet to play so we've got a lot of work to do."

The 2003-2004 school year began with positive press. U.S. News & World Report ranked Northeastern University at #127, up from the 142 mark the previous year. Although Northeastern remained in the third tier, the school was on the verge of breaking out, headed for the goal of top 100 schools in the nation.

October brought Red Sox fever to an all-time high. The Boston Red Sox defeated the Oakland Athletics 4-3 in game 6 of the American League Division. Fans flooded the streets surrounding Fenway Park. They hung from billboards and lamp posts chanting "Yankees suck." A couple of weeks later, fans took to the streets again, this time in violence and outrage as the New York Yankees won the American League Championship in game 7.

triots won their second Super Bowl, beating the Carolina Panthers 32 to 29. Students were celebrating everywhere. An estimated 2,000 people swarmed Hemenway Street. Three Northeastern Students were arrested and charged with malicious destruction of property during riots. Tragically, one fan, James Grabowski of West Newbury, was killed while celebrating as an alleged drunk driver plowed through the crowd.

In April 2004, Northeastern added another student media group to its list. After years of struggling, NUTV came into existence. Working to secure funding during the spring semester, the television station provided a long overdue resource for students and the communications department.

In early November, Boston welcomed Democratic presidential candidates to Faneuil Hall. CNN hosted "America Rocks the Vote," a debate style forum giving students the chance to ask questions and get to know the candidates.

Football season was another time to celebrate in February 2004. The New England Pa-

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY 2003-2004

Although Schwarzenegger has never before sought political office, his fame and fortune are expected to make him a formidable candidate against a crowded field of lesser-knowns in an abbreviated two-month campaign.

The surprise announcement came during a Wednesday afternoon taping of NBC's "The Tonight Show" with Jay Leno which was scheduled to air Wednesday night. Prior to the taping, it had been widely speculated that Schwarzenegger, 56, would announce he would not run

What was happening in the world around NU...

The 2004-2005 Northeastern community witness history in the making. This was the year of George W. Bush's second election, the continuation of the War in Iraq, the Red Sox World Championship, the tsunami in Southeast Asia, the death of Pope John Paul II and many more events we will always remember

CURSE REVERSED

The Boston Red Sox broke the 86 year curse of the Bambino. The Red Sox advanced to the World Series after a 4-3 game victory over the New York Yankees. The Red Sox went on to sweep the St. Louis Cardinals 4 games to 0.

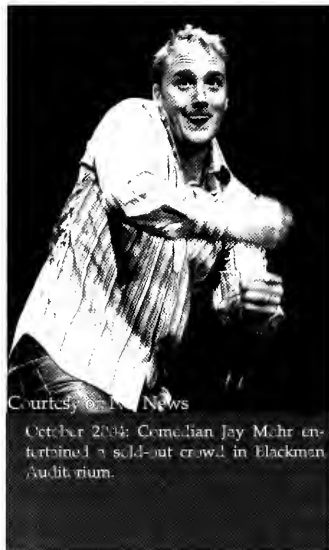

CHOOSE OR LOSE 2004

The Democratic National Convention held in Boston July 2004 heightened the political tension between Republican George W. Bush and Massachusetts Senator Democrat John Kerry. The 2004 election returned Bush to the White House.

PATRIOT DYNASTY

Students celebrate after quarterback Tom Brady led the New England Patriots to a victory over the Philadelphia Eagles in Super Bowl XXXIX. With a score of 24-21, the third Patriot win in four Super Bowls assured the New England fans the Dynasty would continue.

April 2005: A gas explosion in Kerr Hall injured students, faculty, and staff and caused significant structural damage.

September 2004: West Villages G & H open for upper classman housing. West Village H, known for its breath-taking view of Boston, was the one of two buildings selected as "over 21" housing for the school year.

June 2004: Ronald Reagan, the 40th President of the United States, passed away after a long battle with Alzheimer's Disease.

July 2004: September 11 Commission report is released.

August 2004: Athens, Greece hosted the summer olympics. The United States took 103 medals, including 35 gold.

September 2004: Three hurricanes, Frances, Ivan, and Jeanne hit Florida within three weeks of each other. Damage exceed $41 billion.

October 2004: The Boston Red Sox beat out the New York Yankees in game 7 of the American League Championship. The 86 year long curse was broken when the Red Sox went on to sweep the St. Louis Cardinals in the World Series.

November 2004: Incumbent George W. Bush wins the presidential election with 51% of the popular vote against Massachusetts Senator John Kerry.

April 2005: This year's Springfest welcomed less than Jake, Bobbin's own Dr. Pluck Murphy, and Moby to rock out at Matthew's Arena.

December 2004: A 9.0 earthquake in the Indian Ocean, off the coast of Sumatra caused a tsunami that hit ten countries in South Asia and East Africa. Over 300,000 people were killed, missing, or displaced.

January 2005: Iraq holds their first free election in half a century. Millions of Iraqi voters turn out despite the danger of suicide bombings.

February 2005: The NHL season was cancelled after the league and Players Association failed to produce new collective bargaining agreement.

March 2005: Congress voted to allow a Florida federal court to determine if a feeding tube should be reinserted to Terri Shiavo, a woman in a vegetative state for 15 years. The court ruled against replacing the tube. After the U.S. Supreme Court denied appeals from Terri's parents, Terri died 13 days after the tube was removed.

April 2005: Pope John Paul II, died at the age of 84. The first Polish pope, John Paul II is credited with being a major influence of the end of Communism. The most traveled pope in history, John Paul was the third longest serving pope.

May 2005: W. Mark Felt, former associate director of the FBI during Watergate, reveals himself as the Washington Post's source Deep Throat.

After SGA president Andres Vargas was forced to resign in September 2004, Fill Durkin won the role of president. In the first ever public debate, both candidates pushed for direct elections, improved community relations, and increased student body involvement.

After an intense campaign period, Michael Fenson won the presidency 44 votes to 36.

TIME TO CELEBRATE

Take to the streets to celebrate the beloved team's victory in the World Series.

READ MY SIGN A number of Sox fans made signs to show their support of their team. During the play-off games against the New York Yankees, one sign was spotted declaring, "A-Rod eats babies".

Red Sox Rock It

After 84 years of being "cursed," the Red Sox finally earn their well-deserved title of 2004 World Series Champions

“ A baseball game is simply a nervous breakdown divided into nine innings.

— Earl Wilson

“ A hot dog at the ball park is better than steak at the Ritz.

Humphrey Bogart

HEAD FOR FENWAY Many students left their dorms and apartments to celebrate the Sox's win. Students and baseball enthusiasts alike all made the trek to Fenway Park to show their support.

KODAK MOMENT Many students brought cameras to capture all the excitement of this once in a lifetime celebration.

Night At CSC

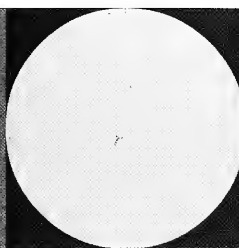

Sometimes you just gotta cut loose. Students dance and play games at Night At Curry Student Center.

CELEBRATE NU DAY Homecoming
during activities period
on Krentzman Court

Weekend began
Friday, October 28
celebrate NU Day.

THE BIG 1-9-0 Students celebrated Northeastern's 106th birthday with music, free tee shirts, pizza, ice cream and plenty of school spirit.

Homecoming 2004

Where everybody knows your name

CARNIVAL Despite the Red Sox parade and dismal weather, students take advantage of the free food and prizes at the Homecoming carnival on Krentzman Quad.

TOP BOG Kappa Sigma and Delta Zeta take first place in the impromptu display competition after the Homecoming parade was cancelled due to the Red Sox parade.

“ We started at midnight and worked until about 4 in the morning.

—John Robinson about the Student Ambassador float

“ I am here to show my Husky pride and school spirit. Plus I was promised punch and pie

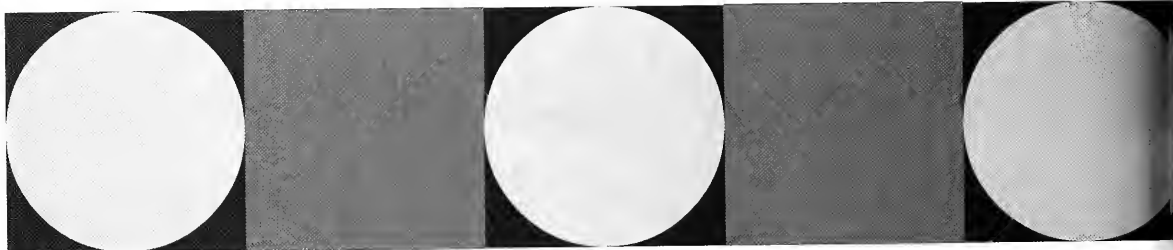

Nick Grass, attending the Homecoming Carnival

DISPLAYING PRIDE Student groups ignore the cold weather and sleep deprivation to begin constructing their displays. Construction started at midnight the day of Homecoming. The prizes went to the life-size papier mache husky, Boston landmarks, and a scene depicting the life of an architecture student.

KING AND QUEEN Kelly Martin and Felipe Basso were crowned Homecoming King and Queen during half-time of the football game against University of New Hampshire.

HOMECOMING COURT Thirteen students on Homecoming Court line up to take their place on the field to announce King and Queen.

TROLLEY TIME After a week of activities including a talent show during Court TV, Celebrate NU Day, and Midnight Madness, the members of the court begin their last day as royalty. Even though the Northeastern Homecoming parade was cancelled because of the Red Sox victory parade, the members of the Court still took the traditional trolley ride.

TURN IT UP The NU band attracts and entertains students during Homecoming Carnival in Krentzman Quad before heading off to the football game.

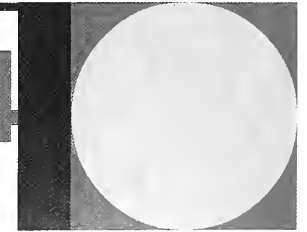

Homecoming 2004

Where everybody knows your name

THE BEAT GOES ON How can it be a football game without the band? Northeastern's pep band shows their support and keeps the crowd going even in the dreary weather.

HEAD TO HEAD The NU Huskies are ready to take on the No. 10 University of New Hampshire Wildcats.

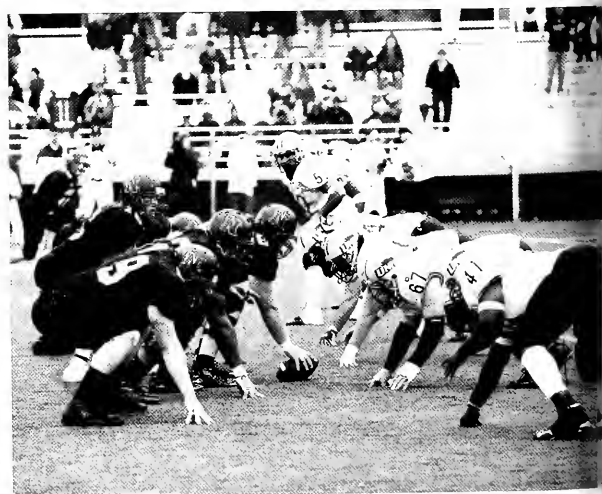

TOUCHDOWN Senior quarterback Shawn Brady looks for an open man. Brady hit wide receiver Cory Parks for a touchdown, giving the Huskies a lead going into the half.

Homecoming 2004

Where everybody knows your name

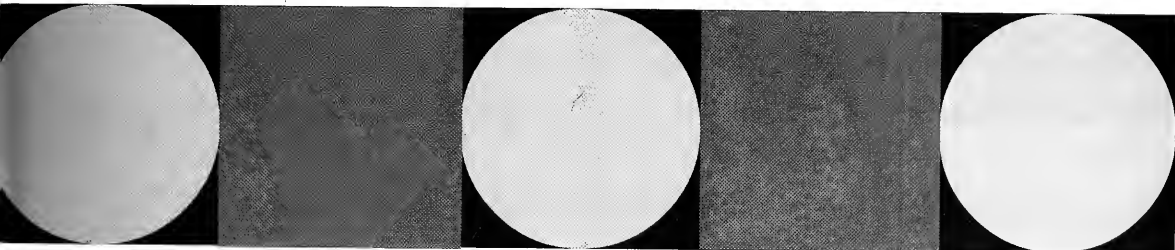

LAST MINUTE On Saturday, October 30 the Huskies matched up against the University of New Hampshire Wildcats at Parson's Field. Despite career records broken by Cory Parks and James West, the Huskies lost 27-23 in the few remaining minutes of the fourth quarter.

FLYING COLORS The red and black of the Northeastern flag flies through the end zone after a Husky touchdown.

#1 FAN The Husky pumps up the crowd on a damp Homecoming afternoon.

LET'S GO HUSKIES Homecoming is all about school spirit. The Northeastern Cheerleading Squad is the definition of spirit. From alumni events to pep rallies to sporting events you can always find the NU cheerleaders entertaining the crowd or cheering for the team.

TRIP TO ICELAND

Welcome to the International Student and Scholar Institute International Carnevale. From the beginning of February through March 2005, Northeastern University was introduced to cultures from around the world. Carnevale included dances from Armenia, tea from China, food from Indonesia, a trip to Italy, and colors from India. International Carnevale is the brainchild of Dean Scott Quint.

ASIAN LUNAR NEW YEAR CELEBRATION

LINES snaked through the Stetson West Eatery as students waited to get the different foods offered in celebration of Mardi Gras.

UNEXPECTED VISITORS included Tony the Tiger and the Keebler Elf to help everyone celebrate the event.

The President's Mardi Gras Breakfast

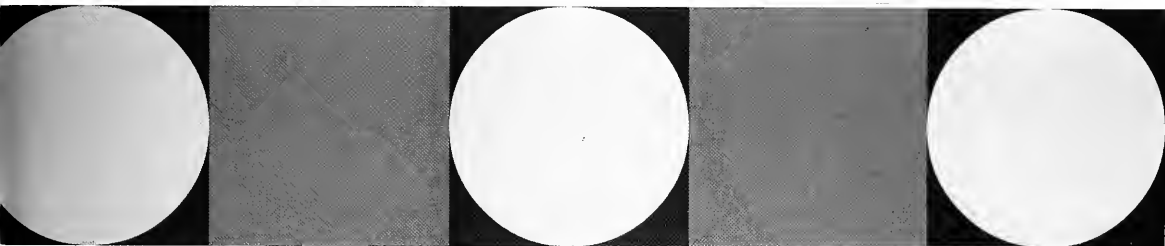

February 8, 2005

There was a large variety of breakfast and traditional Mardi Gras foods for students to choose from, including eggs, bacon, King Cake, jambalaya, and crepes, which are being made here with fresh fruits and whipped cream.

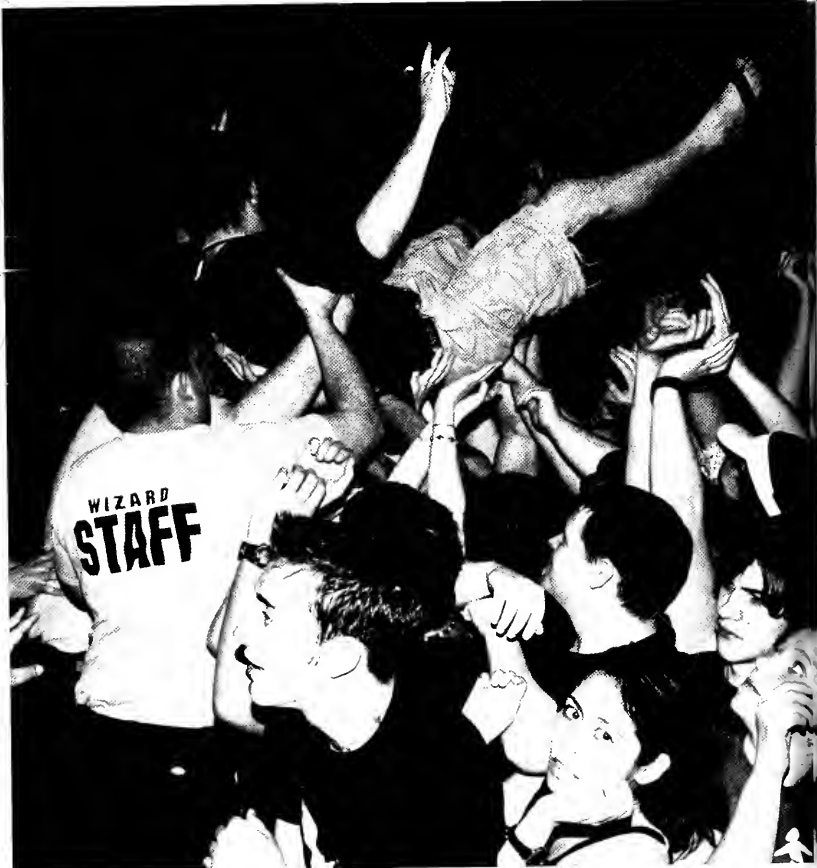

Students show off their festive clothing decorations consisting of bright masks and mardi gras beads.

MUSIC filled the night as a small band of musicians filled our ears with upbeat and entertaining songs.

STUDENTS enjoy their food while listening to music, watching the flatscreen televisions, and looking at all the festive decorations.

Founded at NU in 1989. "Friendship Forever."

"These are the days. These are the girls. This is the time of your life!"

National Philanthropies:

The Delta Zeta Foundation is Delta Zeta's Philanthropy. It is supported by donations from collegiate chapters, alumnae chapters, individual Delta Zetas and their friends and families. The Foundations' work is divided into four areas: Scholarships, Education, Speech and Hearing, and Historical Museum/Headquarters.

At Northeastern, the Xi Upsilon Chapter organizes an annual tug-of-war in the fall, known as Turtle Tug. It is a game of tug-of-war that leaves the loser sliding into a mound of oatmeal. Each team donates $5 per person, and the money is donated to Gallaudet University in Washington, DC and the House Ear Institute.

In the spring, Xi Upsilon holds an annual volleyball tournament with Kappa Sigma Fraternity. To enter the tournament, each team donates $5 per person. This money, too, is donated to Gallaudet University and the House Ear Institute.

Sigma Delta Tau

Founded at NU in 1989
"One Hope of Many People."

Philanthropy: Prevent Child Abuse America

Sigma Delta Tau, a National Sorority for college women, was founded at Cornell University on March 25, 1917. Each Sigma Delta Tau chapter conducts an annual service project, educational program, or major fundraiser for the benefit of Prevent Child Abuse America. Together, the SDT chapters contribute more than $50,000 each year to their National Philanthropy.

NU fall events included Big/Little Ceremony, Pumpkin Festival, Sisterhood Dinner, Uno's with the Alpha Zetas, Big Day 2004, and Letters and Leis.

Spring events included the Alumnae Event, the Formal, Walk to Keep Kids Safe, and Greek Week.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Founded at NU in 1991.
"Faithful Unto Death."

"To give much is to receive much" was the motto of the original founding women in 1898. This is the motto they created and the motto that we live by. Tri Sigma's philanthropy is Sigma Serves Children. All the funds that are raised are donated to the Robbie Page Memorial Fund.

In Loving

Memory ...

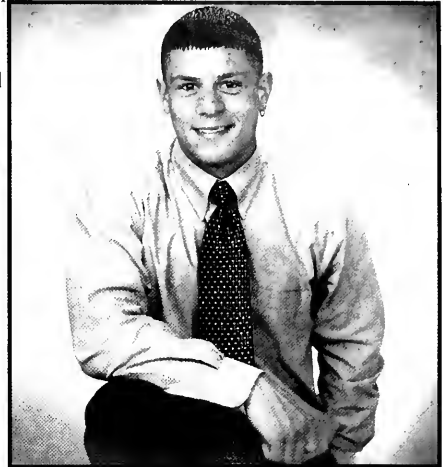

Matthew Vecchione

Matt,

The moment you came into the world we felt our lives would be blessed forever! You were articulate, charismatic, witty and wild all at the same time. This is your legacy to all that have known you -- especially your ability to make others laugh and of course, your infectious smile. As parents we saw beyond this to the caring, sensitive and intelligent young man you were blossoming in to. Though your life was too short, you leave us with a lifetime of wonderful memories that will sustain us til we meet again.

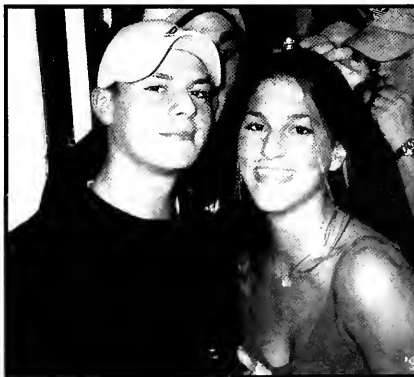

Love forever and always,
Ma & Dad

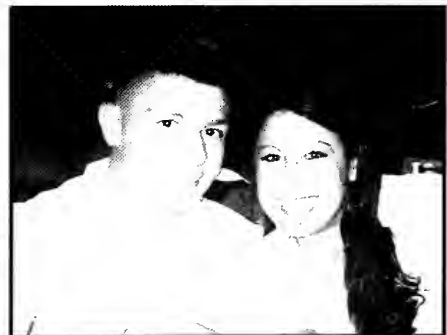

to those who new him best, he was Vec. Words could never portray his unique presence. Matt was strong, loyal, spontaneous, and fun. His infectious smile and elaborate stories were always the center of attention. He was a shooting star, and the world will never experience his full potential. Matt was brother to some of us, a friend to many, but will be missed by all. His presence and spirit will give us strength when we are weak and inspiration when faced with adversity. Vec will always be in our thoughts, and continue to be in our hearts. He is by our side forever in every step. You are loved by us all.

Paul R.

o Matt:
Vitty, charismatic, and truly unpredictable, every day spent with Vec was an adventure. His charm, persuasiveness, and distinctly unique sense of humor captivated all who loved him. Persistent and headstrong in all he encountered, those who new him are undoubtedly grateful to have enjoyed his abstract mind and be a part of his life; a presence so inexpressibly pervasive that it will remain in our hearts and memories forever.

Love, Emily P.

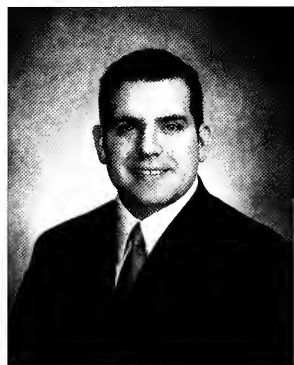

Matt,
No words can express how much I wish you were here with me now. If I could only have one more moment with you I would tell you how many lives you have touched and how much I love you. I know you are still with me, and always will be. We always knew we were soulmates, and now you are my guardian angel as well. Please know that I live every moment for you.

Love always and forever,

the Class of 2005:

As not being seniors ourselves, we do not claim to “know what you’re going through.” We do not intend to fit the college experience into 300 pages, nor could not fit it into a book of 3,000 pages.

The Cauldron aims to represent a piece of life. A piece that will probably be remembered very differently by all of us. Our memories will be different than the person sitting next to us at graduation, the members of our past group projects, even our roommates and best friends. For each one of us, Northeastern presented individual challenges, and obstacles, but during our time at Northeastern we learned how to perseverance and triumph.

Our intelligence, enthusiasm, dedication, compassion and courage are pieces that makes us content the Class of 2005 is the best yet to venture off Huntington Avenue into the rest of the world, but days remember Northeastern is one of the many important pieces of us.
Congratulations!

*With much love & respect,
Alana Woods & Jordan Berry*

Editors-in-Chief, Northeastern Cauldron Yearbook 2005

Thank you.

Andrea Miller; our advisor and the first person we turn to for practically everything; Tara Anderson for understanding if there is something that could go wrong it probably will, and being there to get through it; Caren Orlick Korin for providing a wealth of photos and advice in general; Deidre Fox for being a never-ending resource in all things financial and always pushing us to make our own decisions, you will be deeply missed; Allean & Rebecca in the business office for always having a smile no matter how many times a day we come to the office asking for something; Craig Bailey for sharing his photos, allowing us to preserve Northeastern as it was in 2005; The staff of campus activities for supporting us in all that we do; NUTV, WRBB, TNR, The Northeastern News, The Onyx, and The Spectrum, we’re all in this together; To our friends and roommates for understanding the phrase “in the yearbook office” often meant we’d have to pass up trips to the movies, dining hall or a party; To everyone else who understood and supported all our time and effort in this book,

Without you the 2005 Cauldron would not be in existence.

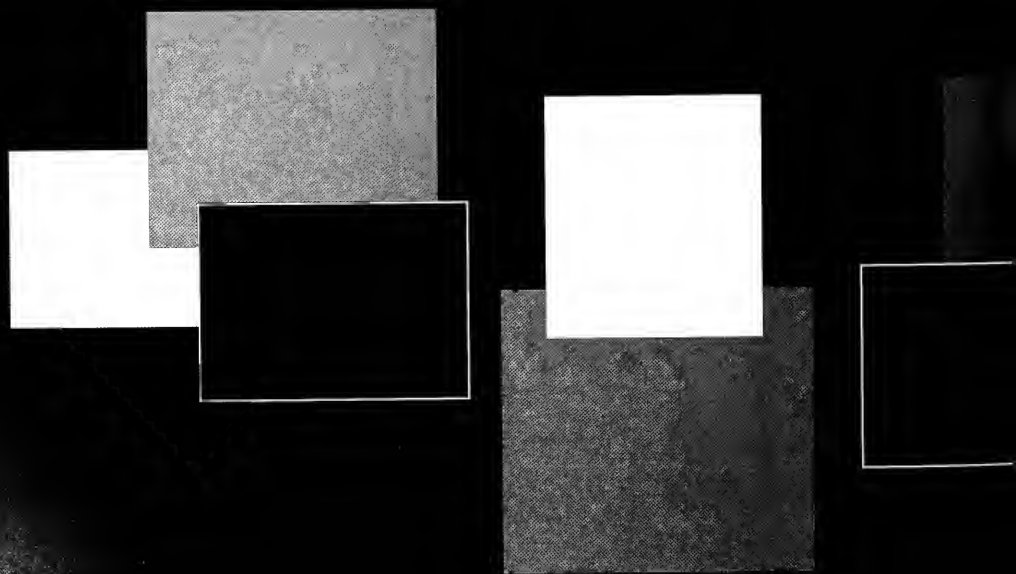

*Thank you,
Alana & Jordan*

The 2005 edition of the Northeastern University Cauldron, Volume LXXXV (85) was printed by Penske Publishing of State College Pennsylvania. Our publishing representative was Mrs. Tara Anderson. / Senior portraits were taken by DeVor Photography of Bensalem, Pennsylvania. Our photography representative was Mrs. Caren Orlick Korin. / Advertisements were solicited by Dash Perkins of Scholastic, Incorporated of Carson City, Nevada. / Cover was created by Ms. Alana Woods. / The 2005 Cauldron was created on a Macintosh G4 using Photoshop 7.0 and PageMaker 7.0 with Jostens YearTech. The Cauldron Staff worked with a budget of approximately $25,000 from Northeastern University. Books were sold to students at $30. The Cauldron is a student publication, and although we did our best to make sure that all information was correct, we are not responsible for any misprints. This is not Kinko’s. The Cauldron is a limited edition, 850-copy run and there are no reprints.

Photos for the 2005 Cauldron were taken by Craig Bailey, the Cauldron Staff, and supplementary photos were used with permission from the Northeastern News. / Cauldron Editor-in-Chief was Alana Woods. Cauldron Managing Editor was Jordan Berry. Cauldron Staff members included Arlene Bersani, Jason Cannie, Karly Danais, Mandy Hagee, Loyd Stephen, and Jen Strout. / Cover photography was taken by Craig Bailey. Cover design was created by Alana Woods.

The bottom half of the image features several overlapping geometric shapes. There are two solid white squares, one on the left and one on the right. Between them and around them are several dark gray and black squares and rectangles of various sizes, some of which have white outlines. The shapes are arranged in a way that suggests a modern, minimalist design.

Dearest Maria,

Through the years you've given so many smiles, so many happy memories, and so many reasons to be so proud and grateful to have you for a daughter.

You always dare to do more, to achieve more and be more.
Congratulations!

We are always here for you. Hop you always enjoy the ride and you never forget the way home.
We love you,

*Alicia, Words can't describe the love we have for you "Our Shining Star." It's been a pleasure watching you grow into the wonderful woman you are. We are so proud of you.
Love,
Mom & Dad*

ia,
I am so proud of you. You have accomplished something that is not easy; but the struggle is not over. It will take more hard work to get where you want to go. I am here to support you and encourage you to keep moving. I wish you all the happiness in the world when times are good. I wish you all the strength in the world when times are tough. Never get stuck in one place or you will suffocate. Never let the music die in your heart or you will become joyless, and always stay young at heart because it will be boring to hang out with you.

Love,
Your brother, Sean

Hamed,

It has taken you years to have arrived at this moment, and we, your only true unwavering spectators, could not be more proud. The only certainty now is that everything before has only been a prelude. We cheer with full loving hearts for you and all your accomplishments to come.

Love, Mom, Dad
& your brother

*Nicole,
You began this amazing journey to pursue your dream to finish your education in Boston. I am so very proud of you. Your courage, dedication, and accomplishment have been truly amazing. You've worked so very hard your whole life and you deserve the very best. Follow your dreams always!*

*Love,
Mom*

Ponle,
You've always made us proud. Your hard work, dedication and perseverance is part of who you are. Congratulations on the job well done! Wishing you God's abundance blessi

Singapore dishes out the right ingredients
for growth."

Food connoisseur Professor Barry Halliwell knows a winning recipe when he sees one. That's why he's convinced that Singapore is the ideal base for his groundbreaking research in molecular nutrition.

"Singapore offers me many opportunities to make a difference," says the Executive Director of the Graduate School of Integrative Sciences and Engineering of the National University of Singapore.

Identified by the Institute for Science Information as one of the most cited scientists in Biology and Biochemistry, Halliwell's work on free radicals and cellular toxicity is world-renowned.

This former Professor of Medical Biochemistry at Kings College, London, is delighted with Singapore's investments in the entire value chain of biomedical sciences activities. Topping it off, Biopolis, the pioneering epicentre of biomedical research, which is located amidst lush greenery and cool cafes, can house up to 2,000 scientists.

If you want to savour a biomedical breakthrough on your menu, visit www.contactsingapore.org.sg today. It could be your best entrée.
